Engagement and Wellbeing strategies

Students behave positively when they know: what is expected of them, when they feel safe, and that people care about them and their learning. Great teachers and great teaching make a significant difference to how students behave and learn. Positive behaviour doesn't just happen. Students need to know what is expected of them and what positive behaviour looks like.

Blackwood has a range of strategies to promote engagement, positive behaviour and respectful relationships for all students. See Welfare Policies and Procedures Manual, 2016

- Individual reward system. Personalised to students when required.
- Event Celebrations. Blackwood programs provide an opportunity to publicly celebrate the achievements of our students.
- Trauma. Staff working with students who exhibit behaviours because of childhood trauma have access to training.

Whole School

At Blackwood we use a variety of strategies to guide us in supporting student wellbeing and engagement.

At Frankston SDS we:

- provide individual learning plans in three priority areas: communication, independence and social competencies
- provide opportunities for students to succeed in their learning using targeted communication tools: Picture Exchange Communication
- monitor student attendance and implement attendance and address on a case-by-case basis
- provide student voice through program discussions and reviews

- Student Support Groups
- Individual Learning Plan
- Behaviour Support Plan

3. Identifying students in need of support

Blackwood is committed to providing the necessary support to ensure our students are supported intellectually, emotionally and socially. Blackwood teaching staff play a significant role in developing and implementing strategies to help identify students in need of support. Blackwood will utilise the following information and tools to identify students in need of extra emotional, social or educational support:

- personal, health and learning information gathered via visiting staff and while the student is engaged at Blackwood
- observations by school staff such as changes in engagement, behaviour, self-care, social connectedness and motivation
- communication with families
- this policy also includes our commitment to upholding the standards under our Child Safe obligations.

4. Student rights and responsibilities

All members of our school community have a right to experience a safe and supportive school environment. We expect that all students, staff, parents and carers treat each other with respect and dignity. Our school's Statement of Values highlights the rights and responsibilities of members of our community.

Students who may have a complaint or concern about something that has happened at school are encouraged to speak to family and approach a trusted teacher or a member of the school leadership team.
